DETAILED ACTION

Location of Application

1. The location of the subject application has changed. The subject application is now located in Group 1630, Art Unit 1634, and has been assigned to Primary Examiner Bradley L. Sisson.

Priority

2. This application filed under 37 CFR 1.20/121 lacks the necessary reference to the prior application. A statement reading "This is a continuation of Application No. 09/503,163, filed May 4, 1999." should be entered following the title of the invention or as the first sentence of the specification. Also, the current status of all nonprovisional parent applications referenced should be included.

Specification

3. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 1634

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 15, 17-19, and 22-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Okano et al.

Okano et al., column 2, discloses a method that results in enhanced hybridization of nucleic acids to probes wherein said method an electric field is generated. As set forth therein, the probes or capture sequences are arranged in a manner whereby different sequences are present in different locations. The generation of the electric field is repeated or successive manner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 15-19, 21-24, 26, and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Okano et al., in view of Lizardi.

Art Unit: 1634

9. See above for the basis of the rejection as it pertains to the disclosure of Okano et al.
10. Okano et al., do not disclose the use of a porous media nor do they teach applying the charge in a manner whereby mixing, stirring or rotational movement is generated.
11. Lizardi discloses at columns 2-5 a method whereby nucleic acids are caused to migrate whilst within a porous substrate such agarose, polyacrylamide, etc. Lizardi also disclose altering the electric field at right angles. Such alteration of the electric field would impart rotational movement of the molecules.
12. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the method of Okano et al., with the method of Lizardi so to incorporate the use of a porous media and to have further altered the application of an electric field as use of known porous media would impart greater stability to the movement and separation of molecules not only by sequences (hybridization to probes) but also by size.
